(a) Unit data for periods prior to the Holdings Merger (completed in November 2010) reflect Holdings' Units outstanding for the period adjusted for the merger exchange ratio of 1.5 Enterprise common units for each Holdings Unit. Following the Holdings Merger, our partners' equity reflects the various classes of limited partner interests of Enterprise (e.g., common units (including restricted common units) and Class B units).

(b) Consists of restricted common units issued to key management personnel that work on our behalf.

(c) Dilutive unit options are calculated in accordance with the treasury stock method. Unit options are associated with (i) the Enterprise Products 1998 Long-Term Incentive Plan, (ii) the Amended and Restated 2008 Enterprise Products Long-Term Incentive Plan and (iii) the Enterprise Products 2006 TPP Long-Term Incentive Plan.

(d) In connection with the TEPPCO Merger (completed in October 2009), a privately held affiliate of EPCO exchanged a portion of its TEPPCO units, based on the 1.24 exchange ratio, for 4,520,431 Enterprise Class B units. Such Class B units are not entitled to regular quarterly cash distributions for the first sixteen quarters following the closing date of the TEPPCO Merger. Enterprise's Class B units will automatically convert into the same number of Enterprise common units on the date immediately following the payment date for the sixteenth quarterly distribution following the closing date of the TEPPCO Merger.

(e) In connection with the Holdings Merger, a privately held affiliate of EPCO agreed to temporarily waive the regular quarterly cash distributions it would otherwise receive from us with respect to a certain number of Enterprise common units (the "Designated Units") it owned over a five-year period after the effective date of the Holdings Merger. The number of Designated Units to which the temporary distribution waiver applies is as follows for distributions paid or to be paid, if any, during the following calendar years: 30,610,000 during 2011; 26,130,000 during 2012; 23,700,000 during 2013; 22,560,000 during 2014; and 17,690,000 during 2015.

(f) In May 2007, Holdings issued Class C Units to affiliates of EPCO in connection with their contribution to Holdings of limited and general partnership interests in TEPPCO. Holdings' Class C Units converted to Holdings' Units on a one-to-one basis in February 2009. Prior to conversion, such Class C Units were non-participating in current or undistributed earnings and did not participate in cash distributions.
